MEASURE Y OVERSIGHT COMMITTEE MEETING
May 19, 2014 (MINUTES)
Mark Dunakin Hearing Room, First Floor

ITEM #1: CALL TO ORDER

The meeting was called to order by Chairperson Dorado at 6:34 p.m.

ITEM #2: ROLL CALL, ATTENDANCE, QUORUM

Present: Chairperson Jose Dorado
Commissioner Jamila Edwards Brooks
Commissioner Kisha Jackson
Commissioner Lanenna Joiner
Commissioner Melanie Shelby
Commissioner Mara Velez
Commissioner Joanne Brown
Commissioner Ryan Hunter

Absent: Commissioner Qa'id Aqeel
Vice Chairperson Peter Barnett

ITEM #3: OPEN FORUM

Paula Hawthorne spoke about the Renewal Draft Report. She made reference to statistics and had additional questions needing clarification she feels were not adequately explained in the report. She shared that the reports are not clear and not helpful to the public.

Jim Dexter introduced himself to the new members of the Measure Y Oversight Committee. He pointed out in the minutes of April 21, 2014 Item #9, that Measure Y is funding a Fire/EMT company, but he believes this was not the intent of the Measure. He also pointed out the inappropriate use of Measure Y funds during "brown outs".

ITEM #4: APPROVAL OF MINUTES

April 21, 2014 – Measure Y Oversight Committee Meeting

A motion was made by Commissioner Velez to approve the Item. Commissioner Jackson seconded. The Board vote was 6-0-2, with Commissioners Hunter and Brown abstaining.

ITEM #5: AGENDA DISCUSSION

No discussion.

ITEM #6: MEASURE Y COORDINATOR ANNOUNCEMENTS (Patrick Caceres)

- Patrick Caceres shared that this would be his last meeting and introduced Chantal Cotton as the new Measure Y Oversight Committee Coordinator.
- Patrick Caceres shared that Vice Chair Peter Barnett presented the Measure Y Oversight Committee Quarterly Report on the Proposal for a Future Initiative to the Public Safety Committee on May 13, 2014.
- Patrick Caceres said he is continuing to work on the final contact details with RDA, OPD and the City Attorney's Office of the SARANet database contract.
- Cotton gave an update that she forwarded the request for the cross tab information to the consultant who has reached out to Commissioner Shelby to set up a meeting.
- Chantal shared the data and information provided by the Fire Department in Attachment 2.
- Cotton shared a statement provided by Assistant Chief Figueroa on "Where does crime occur in Oakland" which stated that OPD uses the data/report for crime reduction strategies.
- Chairperson Dorado shared that he submitted a request to Chief Whent for a breakdown of the PSO hours to be presented at a future Measure Y Oversight Committee meeting.
- Jim Dexter spoke on the item and acknowledged Chairperson Dorado's request of OPD's PSO hours. Mr. Dexter further stated the he had concerns with the accountability of the record of the PSO hours. He also said there is no data on the SARANet or how CRT's are being utilized.
- Commissioner Velez shared that there are multiple people contributing to a future measure which focuses on violence prevention and intervention and greater oversight and more data.
- Cotton added on to what Commissioner Velez reported that this is a community effort around a new safety and services measure and the community is weighing in on additions to a potential new measure.
- Commissioner Brown acknowledged that much of the data regarding PSO's is available on the website.
- Chairperson Dorado shared that Chief Whent is interested in the idea of a redacted version of SARANet database to be provided to the public.

ITEM #7: OAKLAND UNITED RENEWAL DRAFT REPORT (Peter Kim)

Peter Kim presented a Power Point presentation on the renewal report. He also reported that since turning in the documents the report was finalized. Printed copies and a link were provided to those in attendance.

Commissioner Shelby asked for an explanation about the differences in the amended report provided. Kim shared the differences by pointing out the difference was in an amount for Alameda County Health Care Services which was awarded this amount in 2012 for a safe house for CSEC (Commercially Sexually Exploited Children), but the opening of the safe house kept getting pushed back, that the difference in the funds reflects an extension to their previous contract, as opposed to a renewal grant. The projected date is now fall of 2014. The other amendment was the Mayor's Public Safety position which had been funded, but it was neglected to be added on to the written report.

Commissioner Brown asked about Bay Area Legal Aid funds of $10,000 identified in the Juvenile Justice Center wraparound as not having been mentioned as part of Measure Y in the past. Kim explained that the partnership and services Bay Area Legal Aid provides is training for young adults on how to access services for county funds (foster care, mental health). They also are involved with TA & partnership with MDT approaches.

Commissioner Joiner asked for an explanation for the services that the East Bay Asian Youth Center provides. Kim responded all services are for case management. It is the number of participants being served.

Commissioner Joiner also inquired as to where Youth Alive and Youth Uprising are located. Kim explained Youth Alive is city-wide and Youth Uprising is located in East Oakland.

Dyanna Christie from HSD shared details of the Our Kids Program to the committee. They provide a clinical case manager at the 12 middle school for OUSD for mental health services.

Kim went through each program strategy and shared each of the funding amounts by program.

Dan Simmons from HSD shared details that their strategies are moving more towards job placements. Concentration had previously been on job training and subsidized employment. We are now asking agencies to work toward job placement and retention program.

Kim mentioned that the TLC program funding is ending, and they have voluntarily chosen to not have their contract renewed, as they will be closing their doors. The funding will now go to the Family Violence Law Center to take over TLC's role so there will not be a lapse in services.

Commissioner Shelby inquired if the Family Violence Law Center will take over both responsibility and staffing. Kim confirmed that they will be taking over all aspects that TLC previously provided and will be expected to meet the same deliverables and number of clients.

Commissioner Velez asked if Youth Alive also provides retaliation prevention. Kim confirmed that they do.

Presentation of this renewal report to the Public Safety Committee is scheduled for next Tuesday, then to Council in June. If all goes well, renewal of services will begin in July 1, 2014.

Commissioner Shelby asked about the allocation of $79,073 for the Mayor's Office Public Safety Advisor, that when Ms. Regan transitioned to Ceasefire, thought this was then lost. Josie Halpern, from Oakland Unite indicated the position was filled by Brett Badelle.

Public Comments:

Butler Douglas came to speak and noted that the men they work with at the Men of Valor Academy have significant literacy issues and life skill challenges and consequently need more than 6 months to get the ready for transition into employment, which consequently does not allow for 6 months of employment during a 12 month period. During this time, the men are not engaged in criminal activity, especially violent crimes.

Jim Dexter commented that he was concerned over the funding of the Mayor's staff from the Measure Y funds because he believes Measure Y was not intended to supplement the Mayor's staff.

Richard de Jauregui came to speak in strong support of the Measure Y funding. He is from Oakland Private Industry Council.

Commissioner Brown inquired about the re-entry employment program with emphasis on a vendor or a project an entity that could connect up with the private sector. What have OPIC done with helping people finding placement with private businesses?

De Jauregui stated a strategy ties in with OPIC on the job training funding (matching funds program) are currently working with no less than 5 private businesses to place 10 people permanently, this should happen within the next week. Sheryl Maier, Business Services Manager, is the direct liaison with business. She constantly is developing job leads, and connects re-entry clients with businesses.

Commissioner Shelby asked to touch on the benchmarks pertaining to job retention.

Mr. de Jauregui stated that the program will hit all bench marks within the next few months. The numbers will be reported in the 5th Quarter report.

Dan Simmons commented that they have added the 5th quarter in order to reach the 180 day milestone. They are working hard on reaching these benchmarks of job retention.

Glen Bell shared information as a case manager including the kinds of work he does to get individuals integrated into the work force. He also shared the need to get buy in from employers in placing these individuals in talking it up with other business the positive experience of hiring those in the re-entry program.

Commissioner Joiner asked how the organization is going to address the growing competitiveness for employment in Oakland.

Bell identified that it will take mentorship and partnerships of other organizations for support.

Sheryl Maier with OPIC and they have done extensive research sectors of the economy that are showing growth. Looking outside the box, they have looked at industries that are home grown industries, such as car detailing, animal based services, art industry, artful manufacturing, the larger growth area are industries that require a higher level of education. They are creating transition channels. Hope to work with the individuals to get additional education and training for the higher paying positions.

Chairperson Dorado asked Ms. Maier if they are seeing in buy-ins for the unions. She stated yes, from building trades and Cypress Mandela. Openings in small construction firms have been occurring.

Commissioner Shelby asked Kim if the Unity Council could clarify their contingency plan for as they have also asked for additional time. Kim referred to Mark Henderson. Henderson reported the format of community based internships did not work. They will now look for a more traditional approach for internships. This new approach has taken time to get up and operating successfully. Report regularly to HSD on how they are progressing.

Commissioner Hunter questioned should we be funding for Violence Prevention programs to 25 different agencies offering variety of services, or concentrate on a particular area.

Kim reported they wrestle with that thought as well. Talk of narrowing the focus, but when they look at what is provided through the different services/strategies the question is what's expendable. When they break it down, all the services that are funded, are necessary. 82% of clients have been arrested and 70% were arrested for a violent or serious crime, so we are reaching those who need our services.

Henderson added the programs funded come directly from the current legislation.

Commissioner Hunter asked if the contracts will go on the fiscal year until June 30, 2015. He also asked if there were no Measure to continue as a funding source, is there a ramped down plan for a violence prevention program. Kim confirmed affirmatively to the contract issue. Kim said they have submitted a recommendation that request any carry over funds be applied to a ramp down process.

Commissioner Hunter further requested that OPD, OFD and HSD provide a report on their plans on if this funding source no longer is available, what will happen with these services and to city funded services. What can the citizens of Oakland expect to receive?

Kim noted that he just received notice that Reggie Lyles is currently a Public Safety Advisor for the Mayor.

Commissioner Velez said she does not see what the percentage of the grant received to their overall operating budget. Would like to know if it does not exceed 33 1/3% of total budget. There is a cap that OIG determines.

Commissioner Brooks commented that the average age of perpetrators and victims of violent crime is about 30 years of age. Oakland Unite participants are younger, how people how do you that plays in people thinking this program is not effective.

Kim commented that working through Ceasefire, they have found that not only are the victims and perpetrators in an older category, which speaks to a need to address this population to support and services. Working with the young people remains vital with the hopes that this will prevent them from acting out later.

Quarterly Report

ITEM #8: Quarterly Report Discussion

Commissioner Brown identified receiving funding statements from OPD, OFD and Oakland Unite about the impact of not receiving future funding as requested by Commissioner Hunter.

Cotton shared that the Public Safety Committee since March, has been taking the Public's input and will be presenting a first draft of the proposed language on June 10, 2014. Any ideas from the committee would have to come forward before June 24, 2014 to be heard by the Public Safety Committee.

Commissioner Velez requested to include a response to questions raised by the proposal shared to the Public Safety Committee.

Chairperson Dorado said that to include the authority of the Committee with a budget in a future measure, he recommends forming an Ad Hoc Committee to put together a plan.

Commissioner Hunter and Chairperson Dorado pointed out the short turnaround time and an Ad Hoc Committee will not be possible, therefore, members should try to attend the Public Safety Committee meetings to share their views.

Chairperson Dorado motioned to request for a report for short term contingency plans and long term impact of no funding from OPD, OFD and Oakland Unite. Commissioner Brown seconded; Unanimous.

ITEM #9: AGENDA BUILDING

- ✓ Quarterly Report – to include impact statements from OPD, OFD & HSD

- ✓ Joe DeVries – Follow up on community meetings
- ✓ Hear from Mayor’s Public Safety Advisor, Reggie Lyles to speak to the Committee
- ✓ Hear from PSO with their NCPC Chair
- ✓ A report from Oakland Unite regarding their participation in Cities Unite.
- ✓ Unity Council presentation

Narrative

Police Services Agency:

As of March 31, 2014, total FY 2013-14 Oakland Police Department expenditures in Measure Y are $9,722,066.

Patrol: The program expenditures represent the Department's labor and operating and maintenance expenditures associated with the problem solving officers and crime reduction team members assigned to Measure Y positions. To date, these charges total $9,370,919 in labor, of which $422,435 is for overtime. $335,510 was spent on training and equipment, such as charges for cell phones, minor tools, computers, and community policing training.

FY 2013-14 operations and maintenance expenditures through March 31, 2014:

Line Item Description	Amount
Equipment and Office Supplies	$63,803
Service Expenditures	$16,176
Contract Service Expenditures	$67,643
Travel and Education Expenditures	$36,485
Internal Service / Work Order Expenditures	$141,052
Capital Acquisitions/Computers	$10,351
Budget Only: Allocation Offset Project Total	-
Total	$335,510*

The total amount does not include $15,637 in Overheads and Prior Year Adjustments.*

Overtime: Overtime spending is typically associated with community meetings, holiday overtime, court time, and extension of shift due to projects that cannot be completed during normal operating hours.

SUBJECT: Measure Y Funding

DATE: June 3, 2014

Statement on the impact to OPD if Measure Y funds were no longer available:

The termination of Measure Y funding would lead to the elimination of the Problem Solving Officers program at OPD. It would negatively impact our ability to engage in proactive policing and have a negative impact on our community policing efforts. It would also require us to scale back our Crime Reduction Teams. Our Crime Reduction Teams are instrumental in our ability to respond to and prevent violent crimes. The termination of Measure Y funding has great potential to have a detrimental effect on the progress we have made in regards to crime reductions and community policing.

Long term consequences with no Measure Y funds which include contingency plans for ramped down of services:

As discussed above, the elimination of Measure Y funding will severely negatively impact our community policing effort, our ability to address issues proactively, and our response to violent crimes. The elimination of the PSO squads and the scaling back of the Crime Reduction Teams would have a negative effect on crime numbers and service delivery. Problem Solving Officers would not be available to work on neighborhood identified concerns and quality of life issues. Crime reduction Teams would be reduced thus reducing our ability to impact violence.

Re: Report to Measure Y Oversight Committee

Impact to Oakland Unite if Measure Y funds were not available?

Oakland Unite is charged with awarding, distributing and managing the Measure Y funds designated to go towards violence prevention and intervention services. As such, there would be a significant impact on Oakland Unite staff and programming if a new Public Safety Act was not authorized in November and did not continue to maintain a similar level of funding to social services and programs. Currently, all OU staff (housed in the Human Services Department) are funded primarily through Measure Y, and includes both administrative staff (ie: manager, program planners, policy analysts, administrative assistants) and programmatic staff (ie: outreach developer/case manager, street outreach coordinator). These positions would need to be reconfigured within HSD or throughout other City departments if Measure Y funds were not reauthorized and other funding was not found to make up that loss, or at worst, certain positions would be eliminated.

In addition, other non-Measure Y grants (i.e.: Golden State Works which provides job training and job placement services for reentry clients) that have secure funding beyond July 2015 would become unstaffed or understaffed.

As a unit in the Human Services Department, Oakland Unite's future is a bit unclear if Measure Y was to go away. It is difficult to predict what the City Council will decide in the event of non-reauthorization, and what forms of violence prevention funding, mechanisms and services they will put in place in lieu of Measure Y. I believe it is safe to say that, regardless, if Measure Y funds were to become eliminated, Oakland Unite will no longer be able to provide staffing, resources, and services at current levels, and there will be a substantial period of readjustment and restructuring.

Long-term consequences of not having Measure Y Funds? Contingency plans or "ramp-down" period?

Facilitated by Oakland Unite program officers and staff, much of the intense coordination between the providers and institutional partners would be most at risk of serious reduction. Over the years, coordination has intensified and improved across each of our four broad strategies, with a few concrete examples of this would be:

- The structured coordination between Probation, OUSD, CBO's, and other mental health/health/legal-aid providers in the Juvenile Justice Wraparound strategy, which includes monthly case conferencing, improved and streamlined system of data sharing among partners, and the fast-tracking of youth probationers into appropriate school placements.

- The increased coordination between Street Outreach case managers, Reentry providers, and Crisis Response and Support Network (CRSN) workers which includes monthly case reviews, data analysis reporting, trainings, and weekly progress email updates.
- Regular coordination between Ceasefire partners including Oakland Unite Case Manager, OPD, Probation Department, California Partners for Safer Communities, and City of Oakland, and regular attendance at strategic planning meetings, quarterly Call-Ins, and trainings.

As for specific services at-risk of reduction, all funded services will need to readjust to the elimination of Measure Y funds. We are unable to say with certainty which will remain funded independently of Measure Y will continue, since many of these services are supported by other leveraged funds. However, there are certain services that will clearly be negatively impacted, due to the large portion of overall funding for these services in Measure Y:

- 24/7 crisis response services to victims of domestic violence in Oakland
- Services to commercially sexually exploited children in Oakland, particularly those services provided at the point of contact with law enforcement
- Intensive case management services to Ceasefire “Call-In” participants
- Transitional housing services for current OU reentry clients
- Street Outreach efforts as a whole will be adversely impacted

In the event that Measure Y is not reauthorized, Oakland Unite is recommending a “ramp-down” period that would take place from December 2014 through June 2015. The purpose would be to assist grantees with technical assistance and planning around “ramping-down” services to clients in anticipation of Measure Y funds not being available after June 2015, thus softening or avoiding an abrupt cease of services. Activities we would facilitate would include: identifying alternative sources of funding; coordinating warm hand-offs of clients to other services; strategizing around how to accelerate completion of services; exploring possibilities of extending services beyond June 2015. If Measure Y reserve funds are available, Oakland Unite would consider allocating resources towards this effort, which would all be subject to City Council approval.

Re: Percent of CBOs' total operating budgets do Measure Y funds make up

What percent of CBOs' total operating budgets do Measure Y funds make up? Is this amount capped by OIG?

Clearly, services and programs will be adversely affected by an elimination of Measure Y funding. However, with 25 agencies currently receiving Measure Y funds through Oakland Unite, to what degree the impact will be will vary across agencies, depending on the size of the grant award, the size of the agency, and the agency's own fiscal and organizational health. While we have some grantees that are large institutions (ie: County of Alameda, Oakland Unified School District) or national organizations (ie: CEO), we have others that are much smaller community-based organizations with total operating budgets of less than a million dollars, with the majority of our grantees falling somewhere in between these two poles.

Also adding to the difficulty in naming precisely what the long term impact will be to individual agencies is that fact that annual budgets and funding patterns shift year to year, and for some of the smaller agencies in particular, the procurement of a single large-scale grant of $500,000 would drastically change the significance of its Measure Y award to that agency's overall health. In other words, losing Measure Y funding is not a guarantee of an agency's demise. That said, we can be certain that without Measure Y, specific violence prevention programs may be lost, some staff will likely lose jobs, and ultimately, youth and young adults will see a decrease in services and resources.

In brief, looking at agencies' total annual budgets (but not including the larger institutions of Alameda County, City of Oakland, OUSD, or the larger, national organization of CEO (a national organization), what we know is that of our grantees,

- 56% (10 agencies) - OU funding makes up at least 10% of the agency's annual revenue.
- 38% (7 agencies) - OU funding is more than 15% of the agency's annual revenue.
- 22% (4 agencies) - OU funding is more than 20% of the agency's annual revenue.

Regarding an OIG mandated cap, this does not apply to our grants. We have no set minimum or maximum guidelines that direct our funding allocations.

Re: Oakland Unite's involvement with Cities United

Oakland Unite's involvement with Cities United initiative?

Oakland Unite is actively involved in the City's participation in the National League of Cities' Institute for Youth, Education, & Families national campaign to reduce violence and improve the lives of young Black males and other young men of color, as well as their Cities United network dedicated to reducing homicides in cities nationwide. Cities United is an effort to bring mayors from across the country together to problem-solve, strategize, and share best-practices together, and is led by the mayors of Philadelphia and New Orleans. Mayor Quan has led the City's participation in this effort.

As one of eleven cities selected to participate, Oakland sent representatives, including the Mayor, Human Services Director (Sara Bedford), and Oakland Unite staff (Kevin Grant), along with Alameda County Probation Chief (LaDonna Harris) to attend the Cities United inaugural convening in New Orleans ("Why We Can't Wait: A Convening for Mayors Committed to Eliminating Violence Related Deaths of African American males," February 2014). Both Kevin Grant and Chief Harris brought a youth participant each, as well. OU's youth participant (having received case management, Street Outreach, and adult reentry services) presented on how Oakland Unite has impacted his life in significant and positive ways, and made quite an impression on attendees.

Oakland Unite staff also participated in the NLC's conference, "Cities for Black Male Achievement," that was held here in Oakland (April 2014). OFCY Manager (Sandra Taylor) played a role in organizing the panel, "City of Oakland Showcase: BMA Policy Implementation," with Oakland Unite Manager (Peter Kim) presenting on that panel alongside the Mayor, OUSD Administrator (James Harris), and Urban Strategies CEO (Junious Williams). In addition, Oakland Unite staff (Mark Henderson) assisted as one of many local "conference ambassadors," going on site visits with conference attendees and sharing with them information on OU programs.
